

ABOUT AIMIE & DAVID

Within 18 months after the company's foundation, ArtNight, based in Berlin, has expanded from the capital to 47 cities in Germany, Austria, Switzerland and the Netherlands. More than 50.000 participants have visited ArtNight; the network now includes more than 130 talented artists! So the business world rightly asks: Who are the doers behind ArtNight? We are happy to introduce the founders Aimie-Sarah Carstensen-Henze and David Neisinger:

AIMIE-SARAH CARSTENSEN-HENZE

Aimie comes from the beautiful Swabian Alb. She graduated from a dual curriculum in Mannheim and the international corporation Canon, which offered the first insights into the world of management and economy. Her career started with Axel Spring, where she was first responsible for Digital Conferences, later for Digital Media Cooperation. Simultaneously, Aimie graduated with a Master of Arts in Economics and Politics at the European University Viadrina - including a semester abroad in Ljubljana. To further develop in regards to content she switched the publishing company and joined Bertelsmann as Head of Product after graduation. There, she built up the in-house platform for career guidance, which was later merged with another platform under the name Territory Embrace. She led a team of more than 25 employees and won multiple prizes with her platform. Part-time, Aimie founded the Blogazine FIELFALT - a voice for strong, active women, who have both feet planted firmly on the ground. To this day she supervises the successful, far-reaching Blogazine next to the development of ArtNight. Aimie met David Neisinger in 2016, with whom she devised the ArtNight concept and then finally founded the start-up of the same name in September 2016. Aimie lives with her husband in Berlin Friedenau. In her free time, she loves going to ArtNight and exploring the world.

DAVID NEISINGER

David is a globetrotter: He grew up in Germany, Argentina, Poland and the USA. After graduating with a Bachelor in Finance, Strategy & Entrepreneurship at the WHU - Otto Beisheim School of Management with semesters abroad in Bangalore, Bordeaux and Paris, he went to India. Here, David quickly found his way to the Indian start-up scene. In Pune he established two start-ups; among them the E-Commerce Company eSupply. This was followed by the offer to go to a completely different market: Dubai!

David didn't hesitate long – the new challenge excited him. In the Emirates, he built up and expanded the business of the beverage manufacturer MBG as Managing Director. His last stop abroad before returning to Germany led him to the USA. Here, he saw "Social Painting Parties" in action for the first time: Evenings where a group of adventurous people meet, to talk and revive long-forgotten creative skills in an informal atmosphere. Back in Germany, he inspired his future co-founder Aimie with the concept. The decision was made: Together, they both want to bring social painting to Germany, to revolutionize the concept of get-togethers and meeting new people. In his free time, David visits his parents in Havana and tests new bars and restaurants for ArtNight.

